

BOCCE BALL

EXAMPLE

BEFORE YOU PLAY

Bocce Ball is a much beloved game played by all ages. It consists of 8 large balls, typically of two colors, called Bocce balls and one small white ball called a pallino. You can choose two teams of anywhere of 1, 2 or 4 people. Each team gets their own color.

PLAYING THE GAME

First decide who will throw the pallino, either be coin flip, thumb war etc... They throw the pallino out far enough that it isn't super easy to land the Bocce Balls next to it.

The team that tossed the pallino then throws their first bocce ball. The opposing team throws their Bocce ball. The team with the ball farther away then throws their remaining 3 balls in succession trying to get as close to the pallino as possible.

Finally the team with the 3 remaining balls throws their balls trying to do the same

The team with the Bocce nearest to the pallina gets a point for that round. If a Bocce ball is touching the pallina, that team gets two points. The teams will play a predetermined number of rounds and whoever has the most points at the end is declared the winner. A tie breaker is another 3 rounds.
